

Angela Poh is currently Assistant Director (Security & Resilience) at the Singapore Prime Minister's Office Strategy Group. She is concurrently an Adjunct Research Fellow with the China Programme of the S. Rajaratnam School of International Studies (RSIS), Nanyang Technological University (NTU), Singapore. Angela received her PhD in International Relations from RSIS, NTU in July 2018. Prior to that, she was a senior visiting student at Peking University, and studied as a Clarendon Scholar at the University of Oxford, where she received her Master's degree with Distinction. She also previously served at the Singapore Ministry of Defence Policy Office. Angela has published articles in The Washington Quarterly, Asian Security, as well as multiple book chapters and commentaries. She is currently working on a book manuscript entitled China's Sanctions: How Words Bind Actions.